

Today is the day! For the past few days we have been counting down the most read articles published on rushsoccer.com for the 2013 calendar year. As the stories below will show, 2013 was a great year for the Rush but we are all excited to have an even better 2014!

The top 5 so far:

- #5 - Chevrolet Becomes Official Rush Sponsor
- #4 - 4 Called in to U14 National Team Camp
- #3 - Dallas Club Joins Rush Nation
- #2 - All Rush Team 2013

And now for the #1 story of the year with jersey help from:

The Votes are in!

Easily the biggest story of 2013 was the official naming of Rush teams across the country. The move from Nike to adidas forced the name change and with the help of Rush Nation on Facebook, the vote led to the names below:

1. Rush (ex: "Colorado Rush U17 Girls," "SoCal Rush '99 Boys," etc.)
2. Nero (old Swoosh team, it means "Black" in Italian; ex: "Virginia Rush Nero" Pronounced: neh-ro, not nee-ro)
3. Azul (3rd team, meaning "Blue" in Spanish Pronounced: ah-zool)
4. Cinza (4th team, meaning "Grey" in Portuguese" Pronounced: Seen-sa)
5. Wei? (5th team, meaning "White" in German, Pronounced "vice")

So there you have it, the number 1 most read story from 2013.

All of the Rush Soccer staff would like to wish all of you a Happy New Year and we will see you in 2014!
