

The U20 Women's World Cup begins Tuesday in several Canadian cities and the USA team, led by Colorado Rush and PSG Women's star Lindsey Horan will be one of the favorites to win the competition.

The Americans open the tournament in Edmonton when they take on Germany Tuesday the 5th. August 8th will pit the US vs Brazil and then the final group game will match the US and China PR on August 12th. The opening match with Germany will be a rematch of the 2012 U20 final. The US have won three U20 titles while Germany have captured two.

Horan (front row, right), who was a key member in the USA's qualification for the U20 World Cup two years ago before suffering a knee injury, will be the leader of a strong front line for the Americans. Horan is the teams leading scorer with 21 goals in 22 career caps at the U20 level.

Eight Players to Watch at U20 Women's World Cup
Horan Leads United States into U20 Women World Cup

The Watch ESPN app will be airing the US games if you want to watch and root on the team!

Good luck Lindsey!